San Diego Humane Society Offers New Youth Programs for Spring Educational activities modified to safely teach kids about animals from home!

San Diego — San Diego Humane Society is launching two new youth programs just in time for Spring Break! Parents and their children can choose between Camp in a Box, which offers engaging projects that teach kids about animals from home, and the Critter Kids Club, a virtual club that meets weekly to give kids a fun way to make friends, play games and learn!

Education programs have been adapted during COVID-19 to ensure children still have the opportunity to learn about animals from the safety of home.

Camp in a Box: Fun and educational activities for children to celebrate and learn about animals from home!

- Children ages 7-11.
- March 29 - April 2, 2021.
- No virtual or in-person component, simply complete the crafts and projects provided in the box.
- Supply box provided (must be picked up from SDHS's San Diego Campus the week before).
- Price: $25.

Critter Kids Club: Weekly virtual meetup for animal loving kids to engage with other like-minded children who are interested in learning more about animal sheltering and the animals San Diego Humane Society serves.

- Children ages 7-11.
- Tuesdays from 3:30-4:15 p.m.
- Six weeks: April 6 – May 11, 2021.
- Topics: Introduction to San Diego Humane Society, Helping Local Wildlife, Hanging with Humane Law Enforcement, Small Pets, Pet Body Language Basics and Fun with Farm Animals.
- Price: $100.
